Application Process

Program and General Operating Applicants (if you are a current grantee in one of these categories, please skip to the next section)

If your organization is not a current grantee of The NAMM Foundation, please follow the process below.

The application process has two rounds:

- Round 1: Full Application
All applicants who are not current grantees must submit a full application, which is adjudicated by an external panel of industry leaders. Applications are reviewed using the criteria outlined in these guidelines.
- Round 2: Review & Virtual Site Visit (By Invitation Only)
Organizations that advanced to Round 2 will participate in a virtual site visit. This stage allows Foundation staff to better understand your organization, clarify any information gaps, and review additional materials if needed. A second full application is not required.

Current Program and General Operating Grantees

If your organization has an active grant with The NAMM Foundation, please follow the process below.

Current grantees who wish to reapply to The NAMM Foundation will follow a modified application process.

For returning applicants, the April 1 Interim Report will serve as the application for the following year. This report will include an update on progress to date and plans to continue the work or propose a new project for the next grant cycle. While a virtual site visit is not required for returning, one may be requested by the Foundation.

A final report is required for all current grantees and is due August 31.

Organizations that receive a grant for three consecutive years are required to submit a full application in the fourth year.

Example:

- 2025 – Full Application (Grant Awarded)
- 2026 – Modified Application
- 2027 – Modified Application (if a 2026 grantee)
- 2028 – Full Application

Funding is not guaranteed from year to year for current grantees

Research Applicants

Current research grantees are not eligible for the modified application and must submit a full application even if they are a current grantee. The research review process includes rigorous adjudication of each proposal by an expert panel of music and education researchers across the United States. Virtual site visits are not required for research applicants but may be requested.

What We Fund

We award grants to high-impact organizations across the globe that create more music makers by eliminating barriers for underrepresented communities and groups of people in two areas:

- Participatory Music Learning
- Career Mobility in Music

Within these given priorities, we offer three grant tracks:

- Music Program Grants
- General Operating Grants for Music Organizations
- Music Research Grants

Please consult with The NAMM Foundation team if you are unsure whether the Music Program or General Operating grant track is right for your organization. Sharon Bryant, Senior Program Officer, sharonb@namm.org

Grant Size Range:

Grants from The NAMM Foundation can range between $5,000-$25,000, depending on the size and scope of the request. The Foundation may give grants above or below this range.

Eligibility:

The NAMM Foundation funds organizations that are large and small, established, and new based in the US and around the world. We make most of our grants to organizations in the US that are 501(c)(3) public charities, but also to music associations and umbrella organizations outside the United States that have 501(c)(3) status or approved international equivalency.

From time to time, the foundation may provide funding outside of its published guidelines. These grants are made by invitation only.

Grants are typically awarded to organizations and programs that:

- ✓ Have a tax-exempt 501(c)(3) designation or approved international equivalent.
- ✓ Meet one or more of the foundation's funding priorities.
- ✓ Prioritize historically underserved communities and groups of people.
- ✓ Demonstrate measurable goals and outcomes.

What Global Grantmaking Does Not Fund:

- ✓ Grants for individuals
- ✓ Endowments, fundraisers, capital campaigns, annual appeals
- ✓ Conferences
- ✓ Deficit financing
- ✓ Purchase of tickets, ads, sponsorships, parties, conferences, fairs, and fundraiser events.
- ✓ K-12 school districts, public, private, independent, charter schools, are only eligible for research grants
- ✓ Higher education institutions are ONLY eligible for research grants
- ✓ Publications
- ✓ Legal services
- ✓ Regranting
- ✓ Scholarships

Criteria Used to Evaluate Proposals:

- ✓ The degree to which the proposal directly addresses and furthers The NAMM Foundation's funding priorities.
- ✓ The significance of the problem or need addressed by the proposed program or organization, as demonstrated in the narrative.
- ✓ The overall quality of the proposal and whether the organization has made a convincing case that funding will facilitate impactful service delivery to constituents.
- ✓ Well-designed evaluation plan.
- ✓ The stability of the organization regarding board, leadership, strategic planning, program design, and fiscal management and outlook.
- ✓ The organization's track record and/or unique role in providing service to its specific constituencies.
- ✓ The reasonableness of the prepared budget.

Dependency Test:

The Foundation recognizes that being overly reliant on one funding source to consistently cover a significant portion of costs can create a dependency risk for an organization. Recognizing this, the Foundation discourages proposals that are more than 15% of an organization's operating expenses. During the Phase 1 review process, the Foundation conducts a dependency test for each applicant organization. This test aims to identify organizations that are at or above the 15% threshold. This does not necessarily affect the Foundation's decision to fund the proposed work, but the Foundation might recommend an adjusted grant amount.
